THREE ARRESTED
NEAR WAUKEGAN
MAY BE ROBBERSPossible Gang Killing In Shooting Which Brought Officers

Waukegan, Ill., May 31—(AP)—Three men captured after a half hour gun clash with a posse of farmers and Sheriff's deputies were questioned today regarding a possible gang killing and a series of Wisconsin and Illinois robberies.

Persons passing the George Duford farm on Channel Lake early yesterday reported to Sheriff Lester Tiffany that they heard gun shots and Deputies John Sweeney and John De Smidt, who were sent to investigate, were greeted by a volley of shotgun fire. The shooting awakened farmers in the neighborhood, who came to the assistance of the Sheriff's men. Three men, who later gave the names of Johnny and Anthony Nitti, brothers, and George Strom, all of Chicago, threw down their guns and surrendered.

Grounds Searched

An overcoat and a hat were found on the shore of the lake and Sheriff Tiffany expressed belief they belonged to some gangster who might have been slain during the shooting, first reported to his office. A search of the grounds was being made today.

The Duford farm was subsequently raided and Sheriff Tiffany said six 250-gallon beer vats and a quantity of whiskey and alcohol were found. The men in custody, he declared, used the farm as a base of operations for liquor trade among resorters.

Three persons were arrested in the raid. They were, Duford, his daughter, Mary, who is the wife of Anthony Nitti, and Dr. Charles C. Savage, who said he was a Chicago chiropractor.

The Nitti brothers and Strom were held as suspects in the recent $2,800 robbery of the Farmers' Stockyards at Trevor, Wis., and a number of filling station holdups in Illinois and southern Wisconsin.

State's Attorney A. V. Smith of Lake county said charges of vagrancy would be placed against the Nittis and Strom, and of manufacturing liquor against Duford.

Held For Questioning

Dr. Savage and Mrs. Nitti were held for questioning only.

A large sedan, identified with a roadhouse holdup in Trevor ten days ago, was found near the Duford home. It had been punctured by bullets. Officers said they detected bloodstains on its cushions.

William Bauman, living in a cottage at Channel Lake, west of Antioch, told county officials a man begged them for admittance shortly after reports of the shooting and ran through their home, leaving his hat and coat inside. He left by the rear door, they said, jumped into a rowboat and disappeared. Shortly afterward three men drove up and yelled at him. "Come back, Jake," he did not obey.

The trio left in the car in which the Nittis and Strom were arrested. It was owned by Anthony Nitti.

Strauss Co. Plans

Reorganizations

Chicago, May 31—(AP)—Reorganization plans have been effected for 24 bond issues underwritten by S. W. Strauss & Co., and totaling originally $32,045,000, it was announced today.

S. J. T. Strauss, Chairman of the Board, said reorganization plans for at least ten more issues totaling $16,175,000 will be submitted to bondholders within two months.

The building projects involved are scattered throughout the United States. Strauss said from 90 to 98 per cent of the bondholders have deposited their bonds where reorganization has been approved.

"Usually," Strauss said, "it is necessary to form a new company and to place on the property a small new first mortgage to cover reorganization expenses, giving the bondholders new income bonds and voting trust certificates representing common stock of the new company."

Mrs. Vare Beaten
By Enid Wilson

Saunton, Eng., May 31—(AP)—Mrs. Glenna Collett Vare, five times American champion, was defeated by Enid Wilson, defending British title holder, in the third round of the British women's golf championship today, fourth and two.

It was Mrs. Vare's sixth invasion of British, none of which has succeeded.

She was not on her game today and was nine over par for the 15 holes of the match.

Mrs. Leona Cheney, the former Mrs. Pressler of Los Angeles, defeated Doris Park, fine English match player, one up, to leave the United States with one representative among the last eight.

Casualties Of Triple-Holiday
Unusually Light

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.

The triple holiday week-end and smiling skies lured millions to the highways and the open country but casualties of the nation over were few.

Auto fatalities took the heaviest toll and despite the early season, some met death by drowning. A fairly complete tabulation, however, indicated accidental deaths from all causes would not exceed a hundred.

In view of heavy traffic that began flowing Saturday and continued past Memorial Day, this number was considered unusually light.

Seven traffic deaths were reported by Minnesota, the highest number of any state. Iowa and Illinois each had four and in the east only eight met death in auto mishaps.

At Troy, O., three women were killed and another perhaps fatally injured in the lone grade crossing tragedy of Memorial Day.

Despite dense traffic in the Chicago area, only four deaths in auto collisions were reported there. Indiana State Highway police officials expressed belief opening of the new superhighway between Gary, Ind., and Michigan City, Ind., held the usually heavy Dunes Highway accident toll to a minimum.

Five persons drowned in the vacation region of Northern Wisconsin and two in Philadelphia. Home accidents numbered half a dozen.

The traffic deaths in various states included: Wisconsin 2; Indiana 1; Missouri 1; North Dakota 1; Colorado 1; and Maryland 1.

Lacoste Too Much
For Sidney Wood

Auteuil, France, May 31—(AP)—Rene Lacoste, former ace of the French tennis world now staging a comeback after three years of illness, eliminated Sidney B. Wood, New York from the third round of the men's singles in the French tennis championships today in a bitter five set duel, 6-0, 6-1, 3-6, 6-4, 7-5.

Hoplessly outclassed during the first two sets, Wood steadied at the start of the third set and battled courageously for every point. Particularly in the last two sets did the duel reach dramatic heights as Lacoste four times reached match point before stroking the winning placement.

Although Lacoste still is below the form that made him famous as one of France's Davis Cup "Three Musketeers," he was the same implacable court coverer at the finish. Wood lacked the experience needed to outstroke and outwit him.

Used Bricks, Ice
To Get Self Jobs

Chicago, May 31—(AP)—Bart Flynn, the police say, used bricks and cakes of ice to solve the unemployment problem.

Flynn is a window glass setter. Arrested with two companions, he admitted, the police said, that after they would throw a brick through a window he would hurry over to get the job of putting in a new one.

Sometimes he said a cake of ice would be used as the missile because it would melt and leave no evidence against them.

SENATOR HIRED TO GET BUS CO.
N. Y. FRANCHISEBus Co. Official Today
Testified To Salary
Paid Senator

New York, May 31—(AP)—J. Allan Smith, New York representative of the Equitable Coach Company when the company was trying to get a city-wide bus franchise, testified today that the company hired Senator John A. Hastings, former Mayor of New York, to a salary between $10,000 and $12,000 a year to solicit for the favor of the franchise at the City Hall.

Smith testified that Hastings was hired because of his political friendships, but not because he might have an influence with the Mayor.

While he thought there was a close friendship between Mayor Walker and Senator Hastings, Smith said, he did not think Hastings had any influence with the Mayor.

Connection Shown

Just before Smith took the stand an accountant testified that Russell T. Sherwood had paid out more than $76,000 for the services of an unnamed person to whom Mayor Walker said on the stand last week he had authorized payments.

James T. Ellis, accountant employed by the committee, testified that the $76,000 payments from Sherwood's accounts to the unnamed person included $41,668.93 in stocks, and a $10,000 letter of credit purchased April 30, 1931.

The letter of credit, Ellis testified, was increased three times on July 19, 1931, by $2,000, on July 29, by $2,500, and on August 5, by $2,000, making the total $16,500, all of which, he said, was paid by Sherwood in cash.

Ellis testified that a record of Sherwood's brokerage account with Baylis & Co. showed Sherwood delivered to the unnamed person 300 shares of B. M. T. stock which had been purchased for $17,152.50 in cash. The record also showed, he said, that this stock was later returned to the Sherwood account.

Denied Refutes

Assemblyman Irwin Steingut of the Democratic minority pointed out that Mayor Walker had said he knew nothing about any such transaction.

"That is what he said," Seabury replied. "Now I am putting this before you so you can see that these securities were delivered from the Sherwood account to the same person to whom he authorized payment of $7,500, and I leave it for you to say, on inspection of these records, whether there was any reason at all why Russell T. Sherwood should have made, on his own account, that expenditure."

"If you determine that you know of no such reason, then there is fair basis for a conclusion that those securities were paid out for an on behalf of the Mayor of the city, no matter what he may say by way of denial."

Boy Admits Theft In Neighbor's Home

John Greenfield, aged 14, son of Mrs. Irene Greenfield, residing northeast of the city on University Place, was reported to have confessed having entered and robbed the home of a neighbor, T. B. Van Meter Sunday afternoon while the family was absent from their home.

Mr. Van Meter is employed at the Dixon state hospital and upon arriving home late last night, discovered that his home had been entered and ransacked, several articles having been taken, including a 25 automatic revolver, some jewelry and several old coins.

Sheriff Fred Richardson was summoned at an early hour this morning to conduct an investigation, with the result that the stolen articles were recovered at the Greenfield home and the boy admitted having ripped a screen from the window of the Van Meter home yesterday afternoon, entering the home in the absence of the family and ransacking the residence. The stolen articles were recovered and it was expected that an information would be filed in the county court against young Greenfield today by Sheriff Richardson.

Fish In Rock River
Carelessly Killed

Dixon Izaak Walton league members are voicing strong complaint against the reported destruction of thousands of fish in the Rock river between Sterling and Dixon, the result of the lowering of the stage of water about 30 inches Sunday. The gates at the Sterling dam were opened to permit the removal of stumps at that place and the stage of water receded about 30 inches, leaving hundreds of fish in backwater, and the destruction of millions of spawning which experts state has been deposited at this time of the year in the vicinity of Nelson fish dam.

Reports are being received from the stage of water.

REHEARING OF MURDER TRIAL
STARTS TODAYSecond Fight To Life
Of Rockford Boy
Is Under Way

Rockford, Ill., May 31—(AP)—A second fight for the life of 17-year-old Russell McWilliams began in Circuit Court today with a rehearing of the murder charge against him for the slaying of William Sayles, a street car motorist, killed a year ago in a holdup.

The rehearing was ordered by the state Supreme Court not long before young McWilliams was to have been executed in the electric chair. The high court ruled that additional evidence should be produced by both the state and the defense.

The state's Attorney William Knight began the prosecution's case with testimony of a dozen persons who said they were on the street car at the time McWilliams shot and killed the motorist. Because of the youth's plea that he was intoxicated, the witnesses were asked to describe his appearance and actions during the time he was on the car.

The witnesses said young McWilliams did not appear to be drunk, but on cross examination several of them agreed that his face was flushed, and one said "he could have been intoxicated."

Clarence Darrow, famous Chicago attorney, pleaded for McWilliams when his case was before the supreme court but was unable to continue with the rehearing.

William Holly, a former partner of Darrow, made his appearance in the case today, however.

INVESTIGATES PLATES.

Sheriff Fred Richardson went to Franklin Grove today to investigate a report to the effect that the license plates on a sedan, which figured in a hold-up in Chicago late yesterday, were issued to a resident of that locality. The Chicago detective bureau telephoned to Sheriff Richardson this morning, requesting that he assist in the investigation locally.

TOO MANY LEGS.

Henry Fisher, who resides six miles south of Dixon on the Pump Factory road, has a four-legged duck which is four weeks old and which is apparently in fine health and gaining weight. The fowl does not use its extra legs, situated back of the normal position, in walking, but rests on them when not in motion.

Ray Maier of West Brooklyn also was exhibiting a freak fowl in Dixon today, a four-legged chick, about a week old, which also appears healthy.

LUCKY GRADUATES.

The big clock in the east display window at the Train jewelry store stopped Sunday afternoon at about 2:44 when the winners of two beautiful Gruen Guild watches, members of the 1932 graduating class in the Dixon high school were determined.

Miss Hulda Schaefer and Richard Huff of the senior class will be presented with beautiful Gruen watches by Mr. Train before the graduation exercises Friday evening. The big clock has attracted a great deal of attention particularly over the week-end when it was reported that the clock had stopped, pointing to the names of the members of the class who were awarded the watches.

IN MAGISTRATE'S COURT.

Harold Zuch of Hopkinton, Iowa, was arrested late Saturday afternoon by State Highway Officer Frank Tyne, when P. W. Quelle and family of Chicago reported having been crowded off the Lincoln Highway north of Franklin Grove by the Iowa truck driver. At the county jail Zuch pleaded guilty before Police Magistrate A. E. Simonson and was assessed a fine of $10 and costs which he paid on a charge of reckless driving.

Otto Groh of Chicago, who stopped in Franklin Grove early Sunday morning to stroll through the streets of the village, was arrested and brought to the county jail when Deputy Sheriff George Pruitt was summoned. He was assessed a fine of $3 and costs on an intoxication charge Sunday morning and proceeded on his week-end vacation trip.

A course in insurance has been added to the curriculum of North Carolina State College.

TWO KIDNAPERS
GIVEN LIFE BY
CHICAGO JURIST

Pleas Of Guilty And Appeal To Court Considered By Judge

Chicago, May 31—(AP)—William Thomas and John Pingera were sentenced to life imprisonment today for the kidnaping of Mrs. Georgia Gehrt, wife of a physician, Dr. Max Gehrt.

The two men pleaded guilty at the outset of their trial. Another defendant, Ward Swallow, former Assistant State's Attorney and a long time friend of the Gehrts, was acquitted.

Swallow was the "go-between" in the negotiations for Mrs. Gehrt's release, and his counsel termed his act that of a friend.

This trial was delayed several days upon the finding of the body of the Lindbergh baby. Counsel for the defense feared the hostility of an aroused public in selecting a jury.

Crime Called Vicious

In sentencing Thomas and Pingera, Judge Philip Sullivan characterized their crime as the "most vicious of any kind. The very nature of it should call for the death penalty."

There were "things to take into consideration," however, the judge said, including the state's omission to demand the death penalty, the lack of violence, the plea of guilt and appeal to the court's mercy.

A fourth man, Edward Pinnen, was freed of the Gehrt kidnap charges when the indictment against him was nolle prossed. The indictments charging the kidnaping of Dr. Gehrt still remain to be tried.

Dry Leaders Meet
To Plan Campaign

Washington, May 31—(AP)—The National Prohibition Board of Strategy met today to settle on campaign tactics to employ from now on through the political conventions in Chicago.

Two of the council charged with the drive by dry organizations for dry candidates and dry planks in the forthcoming presidential election, assembled in the office of Ernest H. Cherrington. They had before them an agenda including current talk of possible revision proposals by the major political parties.

Bishop James Cannon, Jr., of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, an early arriver, said as the conference opened:

"We are going to discuss the attitude we will take at Chicago and our method of procedure."

He was asked whether the board would consider suggestions by unaffiliated, prominent men known as dries, for prohibition change.

He responded:

"I don't know—it will be a sort of cross fire, I guess."

Other leaders have predicted the board will reiterate its rejection of all revision suggestions.

Mysterious Crime In London Society

London, May 31—(AP)—A mystery involving high London society circles developed today when Michael Scott Stephen was found shot to death in a flat occupied by Mrs. Elvira Dolores Barney, beautiful daughter of a wealthy knight, who four years ago married John Sterling Barney, 31, an American singer.

The identity of the victim was not established until several hours after the morning tragedy which followed a cocktail party.

It developed that Mr. Stephen, instead of being a wealthy American as at first reported, was a member of a widely known English family who has played a prominent part in fashionable west-end life during the last two years.

Scotland Yard got very busy in the mysterious case and Sir Bernard Spillbury, eminent pathologist, was called in.

Surrenders To Face Charges Of Murder 19 Yrs. Ago

Littleton, N. C., May 31—(AP)—Henry Gurkin, for years a fugitive from justice, has returned here to settle charges against his name in connection with a 19-year-old murder.

Gurkin, indicted as an accessory before the fact in the murder of Thomas Shaw living 12 miles from here, surrendered to Roanoke Rapids police after disappearing years ago while under bond.

In 1913, Shaw, a well known farmer and country merchant, was shot down as he sat on the porch of his home.

Soon afterwards, Kid Cobb and Gurkin were arrested and charged with the killing. A jury convicted Cobb and exonerated Gurkin.

Just before Cobb was electrocuted he implicated Gurkin, who was re-arrested, charged with being an accessory before the fact, and allowed bond.

He disappeared and nothing was heard from him until he surrendered in Roanoke Rapids.

Bond of $500 was fixed for his trial at the next term of Halifax County Court.

JAPAN WARNED TO KEEP HANDS OFF IN SIBERIA

Moscow Newspaper
Editorial Publishes Warning

Moscow, May 31—(AP)—A new warning to Japan to keep hands off Siberia was contained today in an editorial in the newspaper Izvestia, coupled with a charge that certain Japanese elements want eastern Siberia to facilitate preparations for war against the United States.

The editorial, published in yesterday's editions of the newspaper said Siberia "is not a street on which imperialist robbers may walk with safety." It predicted if "Japanese imperialism seeks now to entangle its population in a new adventure" in that direction "they will break their own teeth."

"Japanese imperialism already has been in Siberia at a cost of 1,000,000,000 rubles (about $500,000,000) and much blood," the editorial said. "This happened when the Red army was only in process of formation, when the Soviet Union did not produce three times more coal and iron than Japan."

The Soviet Union does not demand anything of Japan except "the esteem of its borders," it went on. "It wants to continue peaceful and friendly relations and to increase economic relations mutually beneficial to both countries."

"The extent of our strength is recognized even by some Japanese politicians, because the menace of that strength is shouted by the Japanese press. This won't frighten us."

URGES SENATE MAKE HASTE IN SAVING DOLLAR

They know by experience the force of an unbalanced budget.

They do not realize that as slow as the processes may be, we are determined to place the finances of the government on a firm basis.

In days just gone, President Hoover emphasized, American gold reserves had depreciated and the dollar was discounted abroad.

"This must be stopped or there will be great losses to the people of the United States and still further retarding of recovery," he said.

"No one," said the President, "has a more sympathetic understanding than I of the difficulties with which Congress is confronted."

The situation, he said, "calls for further sacrifices," and "the time has come for us to make sacrifices by expeditious action."

"I have felt that in this distress that a grave responsibility rests on me," the President continued. "I am addressing the Senate because of the three major problems confronting us. These are:

"First, a reduction in government expenses.

"Second, passage of revenue legislation that will declare to the world the balancing of the Federal budget and the stabilization of the American dollar."

The third point, he said, was adequate relief measures for the destitute.

Shortly thereafter, the President told the Senators he would support a special manufacturers sales tax.

He did not favor a general sales tax levy, but said he was ready to support a sales tax along the lines recommended to the House and now before the Senate, limited to special manufactured commodities.

He spoke of the special manufacturers' excise taxes now before the Senate in the tax bill as partly discriminatory, and called for economies totaling $400,000,000.

"In order to solve the problem and show that we are ready to meet our obligations, I have now come to favor a more general manufacturers excise tax," Mr. Hoover said.

"Whether this is to be the course or not, further taxes should be levied to sustain the dollar."

President Hoover said if $400,000,000 could be saved by economies in addition to the savings already accomplished in budget recommendations, the expenditure of the government would be reduced to the lowest point since 1916.

If tax and economy legislation had been promptly enacted, the President said, the problem would not be so difficult.

Turning to unemployment relief President Hoover said he favored allowing the Reconstruction Corporation to increase its issuance of securities up to a total of $3,000,000,000.

Here are President Hoover's exact words with reference to the sales tax in his address today:

"The Senate has already imposed a multitude of specific manufacturers excise taxes on special industries. Some of them appear discriminatory and uncertain in their productivity.

"I have not and do not favor a general sales tax. It has not been proposed by the Treasury. A sales tax is not, however, to be confused with an extension of the special manufacturers' excise taxes to a general manufacturers' excise tax with exemptions of food and clothing. This is an entirely different tax from a so-called sales tax and cannot be pyramided. Even this general manufacturers' excise tax has not been proposed by the Treasury, although at the time such a tax was unanimously recommended by the Ways and Means committee of the House, representing both political parties and their leaders in the House of Representatives, the Secretary of the Treasury accepted it in the hope that immediate passage of the bill would result.

"In order, however, to solve our problem and give assurance to the country and the world of the impregnability of the American dollar and that we are ready to meet our emergencies at any sacrifice, I have now come to favor an extension for a limited period of the many special excise taxes to a more general manufacturers' excise tax and will support the Congress if it should be adopted.

"Whether this be the course or sources should be incorporated in the pending bill."

GERMANY FACES ANOTHER CRISIS IN NEW CABINET

Hindenburg Is Seeking Strong Man To Succeed Bruening

Berlin, May 31—(AP)—Adolf Hitler's National Socialists today turned their backs on participation in the German government until the verdict of the people has been obtained by general elections following dissolution of the present Reichstag.

A spokesman for the Nazis informed The Associated Press that party leaders were certain new elections would give them a clear majority, and in the meantime they would have nothing to do with a stop-gap cabinet.

This statement came while President Paul von Hindenburg, who forced the resignation of Dr. Wilhelm Bruening's ministry yesterday, was conferring with party leaders in an attempt to provide the nation with a new government.

Dr. Ludwig Kaas, in behalf of the Centerists, told the President that in view of the dismissal of Dr. Bruening his party was not interested in the formation of the cabinet. Dr. Bruening is a Centerist.

Dr. Alfred Hugenberg, leader of the Nationalist party, said the attitude of his followers would be determined by the personality of the man summoned to form the new ministry.

Herr Hitler, whose views on all important matters of foreign policy, including reparations, run close to those of Dr. Hugenberg, already had seen the President. Their interview took place yesterday.

NEW TRIAL DENIED

Chicago, May 31—(AP)—U. S. District Judge George A. Carpenter refused a new trial or a reduction of sentence today to Charles W. Staffeldt of Naperville and his son, John, who had been convicted May 25 of selling beer of illegal alcoholic content. The defendants were ordered to pay fines of $100 and $50 respectively. The Staffeldts had testified they sold only a standard brand of near beer.

THE CAMERA-HUNTER
O cry of wounded bird, no empty nest,
No plumage darkening with a crimson stain
Nor eye fast glazing with approaching death.
For we are brothers with the wind and rain.

I would not break your flight, O happy bird,
Nor hush the music of your morning song.
Nor still, the call of mate to wooing mate,
For we are brothers, and the day is long.

The day is long, and filled with rare surprise.
The changing beauty of the field and sky
Lift you to song, while all around I feel
Akin with things that live and move and fly.

So when the day is done and night appears,
Within my darkened room there comes to view,
The pictured story of your woodland home,
And from my heart your song returns to you.

W.C.T.U. Issues Call to Prayer

Thursday, June 2, has been designated by the national officers of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union as a special day of prayer all over the country for the purpose of holding meetings to pray for the national political conventions to be held in Chicago, the Republican June 14th, and the Democratic June 21st.

They also urge the ministers of the country to preach on the subject of Prohibition on either the first or second Sunday in June.

The Dixon W. C. T. U. will observe Friday, June 3rd as their Day of Prayer, meeting at 2:30 P. M. in the Methodist church. One of the honorary members, the Rev. W. W. Marshall, will conduct the prayer service. Members of the Union, and friends, both men and women, who believe in the power of prayer, are invited.

The Flower Mission Director will have charge of the program to follow and members having flowers for the sick and shut-ins are requested to bring them for distribution.

"Service" Topic at B.Y.P.U. Sunday Eve

The young people of the First Baptist church held their first B. Y. P. U. devotional meeting since the Revival, last Sunday evening at 6 o'clock.

The theme for the evening was "Service". Seven young people took a word for each letter in the word Service and showed its relation to the activity of service. These words were as follows:

Service
Energy
Reverence
Vision
Initiative
Consistency
Endurance

A period of open discussion followed in which many helpful questions were asked, among them:

Why do we serve others?
How can we serve others?
What do we serve others with?
How can our service to others help us in times of trouble?

What do we gain by serving others?

As many of our young people have given themselves for Christian Life Service we had a very inspirational meeting.

The following poem was written by Bernice Madden, who had the word Consistency.

To be Jesus friend, you must be consistent,
Working for Him in great contentment.

Following Him in the way you think best,
And never fear for He'll do the rest.

Stand up for Jesus with all your might,
Talking and preaching by day and night;

Never pretending what you are not,
For consistency to Jesus means a lot.

The young people had been invited to help paint the church in our meeting; so, as each contributed, parts of the church in the picture, which had been drawn on the blackboard were colored in until the whole picture was finished.

Next Sunday night at 6:30 our usual meeting time, we are planning an Inner Circle meeting with the topic on "How should we pray?" All young people are cordially invited to join us in our meeting.

Annual May Luncheon Dixon Club

The annual Spring luncheon of the Dixon Woman's Club was held last Saturday at the Christian church. As in former years this luncheon stands out as one of the most enjoyable social events of the entire club year. A very delicious luncheon was served by the ladies of the church. Iris of many hues made a very effective decoration for the tables. Mrs. Bryant, chairman of the social committee and her committee deserve great credit for the success of the affair.

Following the luncheon a very delightful musical was given by three of Dixon promising young musicians, Miss Doris Beach, Miss Viola Vaage and Miss Gladys Vaage.

Vocal solo—
Ave Maria..... Franz Schubert
Miss Beach, violin obligato by Miss Vaage.

The Lass With the Delicate..... Air..... Arne
Violin solo—

This was followed by the regular business meeting conducted by Mrs. Pitcher, president of the club. Mrs. Marks gave a detailed report of splendid work of the Dixon Girl Scouts during the past year. Delegates to the annual convention of the 13th district of the Illinois Federation of Woman's Clubs held at Galena gave their reports. Each had brought back very stirring messages to the club.

Mrs. Prince said: "There is no such thing as style in furniture, but always select good lines such as period furniture has." Mrs. Pitcher brought many ideas back also. Mrs. Deutch gave her impression of the entire convention saying "Social contact in programs is not enough but each should mean service in some form."

Mrs. Pitcher and Mrs. Brauer gave inspired reports of the state convention held in Chicago. Mrs. Brauer said, "A task with a vision is the hope of the world, a vision without a task is a dream and a task without a vision is drudgery." Mrs. Pitcher urged the wooded land of our state not taxed, or that the tax be low. All delegates urge the legislature with letters, urging passage of the bill, making it law that all new born babies have their eyes treated with the proper medical solution.

Donald Stauffer married at his home in Dixon on Sunday.

A very pretty wedding was solemnized at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Stauffer, 313 E. Fellows street, at 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon, May 29th. Rev. James Barnett, pastor of the First Christian church of Dixon, using the simple ring ceremony, united in marriage, Donald D. Stauffer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sue Viola Vickroy, 30th young people are from Moline, Ill.

Mrs. Donald Stauffer is the daughter of Mrs. Leulia Vickroy of Knoxville, Ia., having spent most of her life in that city, but for the past few years has made her home in Moline, Ill. She is a very charming young woman and is enjoyed a host of friends in Knoxville and Moline.

Donald is the only son of Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Stauffer, 313 E. Fellows street. He graduated from the North Dixon high school with the class of 1922. After completing a business course in the Coppins Business College, he was employed for six years in the auditing department of the Ill. Northern Utilities Co. of Dixon. For the past two years he has been manager of the Miller-Jones Shoe store in Moline.

These popular young people have many friends in Dixon and Moline who wish them many happy years of wedded life.

After June 1st, they will reside at 2334, Thirty-first street, Moline.

BEAUTIFUL WEATHER AND FLOWERS FOR DECORATION DAY

Decoration Day, day of sad, sweet memories, has come and gone again. Never have the flowers been more beautiful, and plentiful, and never have the cemeteries in Dixon and Sterling, Sugar Grove—in fact, all over this section of the country, looked more beautiful. The weather was ideal, also, and large crowds attended the services for the soldier dead; while the graves of dear ones in each family, were reverently remembered.

Palmyra Aid Society Elects Officers

The Palmyra Mutual Aid Society met in a very pleasant all day meeting Wednesday, May 25th, with Mrs. Clara Shawyer, 310 Fifth street.

The home was beautifully decorated with garden flowers and at noon a very tempting picnic dinner was served. There were eighteen members, one visitor and several children present.

After a social hour the president called the meeting to order and the business meeting was conducted in the usual manner. As this was the last meeting of the society before the summer vacation election of officers was held, the following being elected:

President—Mrs. Ed Mensch
Vice-president—Mrs. John Sheaffer
Secretary—Mrs. Blinn Bryan
Treasurer—Mrs. LeRoy Buhler

Plans were discussed for the picnic, it being decided to have it on Wednesday, June 15th.

The Misses Irene Mensch, Edith Volz, Kathryn Sheaffer and Mary Frances Buhler then favored with a vocal selection which was greatly enjoyed.

The entertainment for the afternoon was in charge of Mrs. LeRoy Buhler. Mrs. Oscar Buhler and Mrs. Sumner Reed captured the prizes for the first game and Mrs. Leon Hart and Mrs. Clara Goodrich received the prizes for the second game.

Late in the afternoon the meeting adjourned after having spent a very pleasant day with Mrs. Shawyer.

LADIES AID TO MEET THURSDAY

The regular monthly meeting of the Ladies Aid of St. Paul's Lutheran church, will be held on Thursday afternoon June 2, at 2:30 in the church parlors. A good attendance is desired. The hostesses are Mrs. J. E. White, Mrs. Walter White, Mrs. Clarence Wickley, Mrs. J. E. Winters, Mrs. Simon Young and Mrs. Ernest Youngmark.

Masonic Parties For Teen Age And Children

Saturday afternoon about forty children of Masons, up to 6 years of age, were delightfully entertained from 3 to 5 o'clock at the Masonic Temple, playing various games which had been planned. During the afternoon each child was presented with several favors, including balloons, small stiff hats, whistles, horns, squakers and on departing a box of selected candies.

In the evening about 175 young people from 6 to 14 years were entertained at the Temple. Entertainment was offered by Mary Lee Burns, the Grimes sisters, and Marilyn Crawford, pupils of Miss Elsie Neff, and music was furnished by Mrs. Jack Horner. Various favors were distributed throughout the evening, affording much enjoyment for all. Each one received the same as in the afternoon, concluding with the selected candies and cakes. Much credit is due Mrs. Harry Quick for the entertainment of the children in the afternoon and evening.

Both the afternoon and evening were voted delightful parties by the young folks, as well as the spectators.

MIXING TARIFF WITH THE TAX BILL.

What started out to be a budget-saving tax bill seems to have become, by some process of congressional magic, a tariff bill; and it is worth remembering that one may be a devout high-tariff advocate and still deplore this surprising change.

For the tariff, like the poor, is always with us, but the tax bill is something different.

It is an emergency measure. The federal government has found that its expenditures are exceeding its income by many, many millions of dollars, and its biggest job right now is to make things balance somehow. New sources of income must be found. Until this job is done, nothing else that Congress can do amounts to very much.

That being the case, it would seem to be the part ordinary common sense to get the tax bill through as quickly as possible; and it is hard to understand just why Congress should go out of its way to make the job more difficult than it need be.

These tariff sections are not advanced as revenue measures. The most that is said for them is that they may add $6,000,000 to Uncle Sam's income, and there is nothing like agreement that they will bring in even that much.

Why, then, in the name of sanity, force them into the tax bill and further complicate an already complicated problem?

It is quite possible that the nation will be better off if these new tariff levies are written into law. That isn't the point. If we need them, let them ride through in a separate bill, entirely disconnected with the tax bill. Just now the tax bill is more important.

Congress has been on trial in the last few months. The country has been watching anxiously to see if that body has enough intelligence and patriotism to enable it to function properly in a great national emergency. Its action in jamming tariff increases into a taxation measure is almost enough to make one think that it has not.

THE WRONG PSYCHOLOGY.

It is hard to sympathize very deeply with the war veterans who have been trying to force the railroads to give them free box-car transportation to Washington so that they can tell Congress how much they want a bonus. It is hard, also, to feel that they are doing their cause any good.

Someone ought to tell them that they have been using the wrong kind of psychology. The too-important beggar is apt to defeat his own ends.

You know how it is. Suppose a man has done something for you, so that you are under a moral obligation to him. If he stops you on the street every day to remind you of it, calls you up on the phone every night to insist that you ought to do something for him, sends you letters and telegrams about it and waits for you to come out of your house every morning—well, sooner or later you're pretty apt to tell him to go and chase himself.

This box-car expedition arouses much the same sort of emotion.

ILLUSTRATING A FACT.

The extent of the decline in security values brought about by the depression was never better illustrated than the shrinkage of the estate of the late Samuel Maher, famous Ohio philanthropist.

Mr. Maher, who had extensive holdings in steel companies and in Great Lakes steamship lines, had an estate that was worth upwards of $40,000,000 in the summer of 1929. Last year he died; and when an inventory of his estate was filed in the Ohio probate court the other day, it was found that the $40,000,000 value had come down to about $6,500,000.

Could there be a more graphic example of the way in which values have contracted in the last two and one-half years?

The district around Nice, France, has become an entrenched camp. New roads and railroads have been constructed, linking the valleys with ports. This year alone France is spending $20,000,000 on the Italian frontier.—Senator Domenico Nuvoloni of Italy.

The government and the people of England wish well toward the Irish Free State. We wish to see its people happy and prosperous. We believe the prosperity of the Free State is bound up with the prosperity of Great Britain and that it is in the best interests of both countries that they should remain linked together within the British commonwealth.—J. H. Thomas, British Dominions Secretary.

In America . . . the owners of industry have sacked the richest continent in the world, sold gold brick after gold brick to the producers whom they needed to grow the wheat and the hogs, to drill the oil wells and run the adding machines and buy the Fords and the stocks.—John Dos Passos, novelist.

Girls who wear mannish clothes in imitation of Garbo and Dietrich are revolting.—Bette Davis, film actress.

The Tinies gazed upon the door to Tin Can Town and then, once more, the bushel basket shouted, "Walk right through the barrel, boys!"

"You'll see some sights to please you all and you'll be glad you made this call. Don't be surprised if you are greeted with a lot of noise."

"You see, tin cans live in this place. They're glad to see a smiling face, for often they get lonesome. You'll be welcome as can be."

"The tin cans I have brought along know this is where they do belong. From now on they'll do no more work, but just live happily."

"Oh, tell us more about this place, so we will know what we're to face," said Duncy. "Why are tin cans here? What do they do all day?"

"And, also, where do they come from? Perhaps you think that I am dumb, but I must know the full details, or I'll be on my way."

The basket thought and said, "Well, as long as you insist I tell. I'll just explain that every can comes to this place, at last."

"When its contents are taken out, it's thrown away and then, no doubt, it's mighty glad to reach here, where its final days are passed."

"Each can does what it's s'posed to do and then its working days are through. In this town no one bothers it, or puts it on a shelf."

"No more will it be shipped around, and thus a peaceful life is found. The more I think of it, the more I'd like this life myself."

And then the Tinies walked inside and very shortly Duncy cried, "Oh, look! Here comes a strange tin can. Upon its head's a crown."

The tin can shouted, with good cheer, "Well, well! You lads are welcome here! I once was just a sardine can. I'm king now, of this town."

The sardine can just smiled and then wee Duncy chimed right in again. "Please tell us more about yourself," said he. "I'd like to hear."

"You say you're just a sardine can and yet you seem a happy man. I cannot understand how you can be so full of cheer."

The can replied, "Ah! That's just it. Just gather round me, lads, and sit right down and be real comfortable. I'll tell you all I know."

The Tinies did as they were told. The can then said, "My story's old, but if you want to hear it, I will tell it. Here I go!"

"Once I was just a sheet of tin. Real long and flat and very thin. And then they twisted me around until I was a can."

"Although it never was my wish, they shortly filled me full of fish. You still can see where fish were, lads. If my insides you'll scan."

"And then they took me to a store. I found out what I was there for. A man came in and bought me and opened me up wide."

"It wasn't long till I was thrown away, which left me all alone. And then I came to Tin Can Town, with no more fish inside."

"That's interesting," Scout said. Then Duncy shouted "Look ahead! What is that I see coming? It's a quite unusual sight."

The can replied, "Don't be afraid. That's merely a tin can parade. Just watch the cans go marching by. Upon their feet they're light."

The Tinymites jumped to their feet, the better to enjoy the treat. On came the funny tin cans and they keep in perfect step."

Wee Windy clapped his hands and cried, "You all look dandy, side by side." And then he started keeping time by shouting, "Hep, hep, hep!"

(The Tinies rescue a tin can in the next story.)

ASHTON NEWS

ASHTON—Mrs. W. E. Kern and grandson Dean Vogeler of Belvidere came Friday for a visit at the Charles C. Vogeler home over Decoration day. Dean will remain at Ashton during the summer vacation.

Supervisors William Veith of Grand Detour township and Perley Cross of Pine Rock township, Ogle county were in town Saturday on business in connection with the widening of the Lincoln Highway. The road is to be 80 feet wide from near the Charles Kersten farm to Rochelle. These gentlemen are members of the road and bridge committee of the Ogle county Board of supervisors.

The Next Best Thing to Eating REAL Grapes

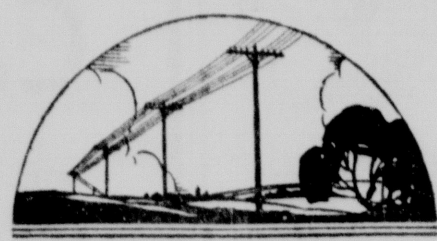

Ever visit a vineyard early in the morning, when the dew still lingered on the great clusters of purple grapes? Ever squeeze them between your lips and experience the genuine thrill of that first delicious wine-like flavor? Nowhere else have you seemed to quite match that tang—until the New NuGrape came.

This unusual new drink, by a process exclusively its own, has succeeded in imprisoning the elusive tang of the dew-wet grape, just as it is plucked from the vineyard in season—clear, tingling with life, and perfumed. Yes—you can catch the bouquet of it the moment the bottle is opened. For that vivid moment, you are "In a Grape Arbor."

Try this delicious carbonated beverage today. It's now on sale everywhere for 5c.

ILLINOIS GIRLS WIN HONORS IN ESSAY CONTESTS

Themes On "Meat Of The Past And Present"
Given Merits

Chicago, Ill., May 31—An essay entitled "Meat of the Past and Present" has won for Miss Dorothy M. Lamb, a Western Springs high school girl, first place in the state of Illinois and a substantial cash award in an essay contest conducted in high schools of the United States under the sponsorship of the National Live Stock and Meat Board, a research and educational institution. Miss Alice Ottendorf of Palatine, won second place in the state. Announcement of the awards have just been made by a committee of prominent home economists assembled in Chicago as contest judges.

Miss Lamb's and Miss Ottendorf's essays were selected as two of the best 48 in more than 14,000 entries.

The judges committee for the contest was composed of Miss Frances Swim, supervisor of the household arts in the Chicago city schools and president of the American Home Economics Association; Miss Jessie Alice Clifton, professor of home economics at the University of Missouri; and Mrs. Nell B. Nichols, associate editor of the Woman's Home Companion.

This was the ninth annual contest. The event has the full endorsement and support of the bureau of home economics, U. S. Department of Agriculture, and state agricultural colleges. Its purpose is to assist teachers of home economics in conducting their meat classes.

Teachers in 742 high schools cooperated this year, according to the Board's figures. Their students wrote on all phases of the subject of live stock and meat. The majority of stories dealt with meat cookery. A great many wrote on meat in the low cost diet in view of the fact that meat prices are lower today than they have been in thirty-five years.

Taxes and interest to be met, groceries to be bought—and farm products bringing about as little as most of us can remember. I think I realize what you are up against.

At the same time I don't believe that we should give up hope. The entire business world is facing a crisis, and the poultry and egg business cannot be separated from the general situation. Every one of us who is engaged in raising and marketing poultry and eggs depends on one thing: Having someone buy that produce.

Whether or not people will buy poultry and eggs and how much they will pay for them depends on how much money they have to spend.

It is easy to be discouraged and to think that it doesn't pay to bother much about the chickens, but if we really stop and use our heads I am sure we will agree that this is no time to offer people a poorer product.

If we are interested in getting a better price for produce, we certainly must keep up the quality. Get the Roosters Out of the Flock

As I have often said, I would hesitate to make any suggestions that would mean an expense to you. Fortunately, the quality of poultry and eggs is not a question of money, but of care.

This matter of producing infertile eggs, for example. It doesn't cost anything. It simply means getting the roosters out of your flock. I know they don't bring much, but if you don't want them, eat them—or can them.

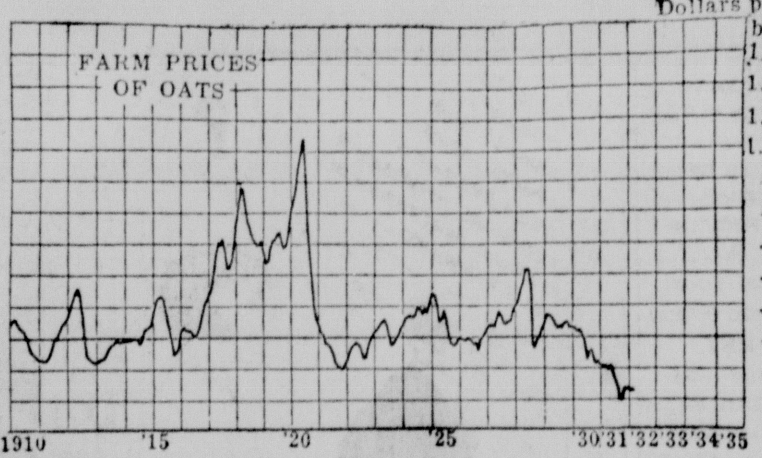

Then there is this other thing: Water. An egg is two-thirds water. So we can hardly expect the hens to produce eggs unless they have plenty of water. See that it is cool so they will drink more of it—and clean so that there will be no danger of disease being spread through the flock.

To Keep Eggs Fresh
Keep Them Cool
After the eggs are laid there is the problem of keeping them fresh until you sell them. That can be done, as you know, by three simple practices—gathering them twice a day, keeping them in a cool place, and letting them cool out before you put them in the case.

This takes time, but it doesn't cost anything. In fact, none of the things I have suggested cost anything. But they make all the difference in the world as far as the quality of eggs is concerned.

Sincerely yours,
W. F. Priebe

Farmers' Comparison Chart

The farm price of oats has steadily declined since the war, and the decline in the use of oats as feed for young animals, according to the U. S. Bureau of Agricultural Economics. Oats are a good crop for farmers who can fit them into their farm plans so as to produce them at low cost, the bureau reports. The above chart showing the trend of oat prices has been prepared by the bureau, and enables farmers to keep a record of and compare their local prices in the empty blocks.

STATE HONORS IN BUTTERFAT TEST TO GIFFORD HERD

Five Guernseys Took Honors For Month
Of April

Urbana, Ill.—(AP)—State honors for butterfat production last month went to a herd of five purebred Guernseys owned by John G. Bushboom, Gifford.

The winning herd produced 59 pounds of butterfat a cow to out-yield 1,128 other herds tested in 55 dairy herd improvement associations of the state. C. S. Rhode, dairy extension specialist of the College of Agriculture, University of Illinois, announced today.

A total of 19,692 cows tested in the various associations during the month produced an average of 27.57 pounds of butterfat.

With the Moultrie county organization setting the pace, 25 of the 55 associations succeeded in beating this state average. The average production of 229 cows tested in the 19 herds of the Moultrie county association was 35 pounds of butterfat.

Owners of the ten highest producing herds for the month, together with the average butterfat production a cow, were:

John G. Bushboom, Gifford, 59 pounds of butterfat; Clyde Margrey, Onarga, 57 pounds; J. Al Whitcomb, Ferris, 55 pounds; Ira Monroe, Atwood, 54 pounds; W. B. Hest, Rockford, 52 pounds; Ill. Holste Masonic Home, Sullivan, 50 pounds; C. J. McGord, Newton, 50 pounds; C. W. Guthrie, Charles, 49 pounds; J. W. Hemingway, Oregon, 48 pounds; and Pala Nels Dairy Farm, Palatine, 47 pounds.

The ten high associations for the month, together with the tester and the average butterfat production of each cow in the association, were:

Moultrie, P. J. Smith, 35 pounds; Douglas, John Mitchell, 31 pounds; Champagne, Ford, Angus Taylor, 31 pounds; Winnebago No. 3, Paul Brandenburg, 31 pounds; Ogle, Raymond Baker, 30 pounds; Lake, R. B. Howard, 30 pounds; St. Clair, Monroe-Randolph, Franz Schultz, 30.3 pounds; Boone No. 2, J. S. Hughes, 30 pounds; McLean No. 2, Archie Blakely, 30 pounds; and Coles, Marvin Fairchild, 30 pounds.

Weekly Review of Agriculture by Farmers' Paper

Chicago, Ill., May 31 —(AP)—The "big push" by the Federal Reserve banks to check credit deflation has begun to show results, the Prairie Farmer's weekly market review said. "Loaning funds are now accumulating," the review said. "It is likely, however, that demand for farm products is some distance away."

"The mild wave of liquidation of fed cattle in progress during the past month seems likely to be of brief duration and be followed by seasonal strength in prices of good cattle. Prices for low grade steers probably saw their spring peak in mid-April, and will weaken further in June when grass cattle appear. Stocker and feeder prices are in a seasonal downward trend plus some additional readjustment to get in line with fat cattle. In spite of small numbers reported on feed in early spring, a good many cattle have been carried along, as usually happens in years of abundant and cheap corn. Their owners have been liquidating recently to avoid the late May and June period which was so unsatisfactory in 1931, and also because of prevailing economic uncertainty. This heavy movement of fed cattle probably will be over by early June.

"The spring low point in hog prices is reached most frequently in early June when the movement of fall pigs is at its height. Expectation by packers that the summer supply of hogs will be quite heavy and the severity of the industrial depression may make this turn somewhat later than usual. Prices have declined about 25 per cent in the last two months. How much the market recovers depends largely upon the improvement of conditions. Consumption is higher than last year.

"Lamb prices are in a seasonal downward trend which may not strike bottom for several months, although the decline will be interrupted by numerous good-sized upturns. The inactive period in the wool market was prolonged well through May. Mill operations are small and goods are being sold at sacrifice sale. Wool prices are likely to be reactive, upward, faster than will other farm products.

"While June is usually a weak period in the wheat market, conditions this year appear to be shaping up for a steady to strong market, if the general economic situation does not grow worse.

"With liberal farm and market stocks and a small commercial demand the outlook for corn prices continues weak. Pressure from country offerings probably will increase for a while after corn planting. Prices may improve after this movement is over. Definitely unfavorable new crop prospects would strengthen prices materially.

"Butter prices usually average lower in June than in May. Conditions of the pastures will be a large factor in determining the make this year. Consumption is falling below last year. The level at which buying in volume for storage will occur remains to be seen, but is likely to be rather low.

"Egg prices have been working higher during the last two months but it is doubtful if they will make further gains during the next two months. Storage demand remains weak in spite of the fact that stocks in storage are the smallest in a number of years.

"Poultry prices recently have been rather weak because of disappointing demand."

Farm Radio

The official Government report on acreage, condition, and probable production of winter grains will go to the radio audience from the Federal Crop Reporting Board in the National Farm and Home Hour program of Friday, June 10. The current market situation for the chief kinds of livestock—cattle, hogs and sheep—will be reviewed by economists in the weeks programs.

Paraphrase On Lincoln Address

C. D. Anderson, manager of the Dixon office of E. J. Peckery & Co. has received the following paraphrase on Lincoln's Gettysburg address:

Abraham Lincoln in his Gettysburg address said:
"Four score and seven years ago our fathers brought forth on this continent a new nation, conceived in liberty, and dedicated to the proposition that all men are created equal."

Four score and three years ago the fathers of the Board of Trade brought forth in this city, a new commercial institution, dedicated to the principles of uniformity in the customs and usages of merchants; to inculcate principles of justice and equity in trade; to facilitate the speedy adjustment of business disputes; to acquire and to disseminate valuable commercial and economic information; and generally, to secure to its members the benefits of co-operation in the furtherance of their legitimate pursuits.

Now we are engaged in a great controversy with our government testing whether that organization, or any organization so constituted and so dedicated, can long endure and we here highly resolve that if we win our contention, and win it we must if our institution have that sanctity that was given them by our fathers, we will not only win our rights but will give this nation, under God, a new birth of freedom and proclaim that government of the people, by a fair and impartial people, for the benefit of all the people—not a favored few, has not perished from this nation.

This idea is explained by Professor E. N. Hansen of the Iowa State college dairy husbandry department in these words: The economy of feeding grain to a cow on pasture depends on the amount of milk she produces and the flesh she is in.

A low milk-producer will not pay for grain while on good pasture but it is a serious mistake not to feed grain to one producing a pound or more of butterfat daily, Hansen believes.

The dairy husbandryman says that the experiments have shown that the return from grain feeding is not altogether evidenced at the time of feeding, but is spread out through the whole lactation period.

In an experiment with more than 2,000 cows on pasture, conducted by Minnesota cows testing associations, it was found that $7 worth of grain increased the butterfat return an average of 68 pounds.

A plan to follow in feeding grain, when pasture is abundant, that Professor Hansen suggests, is to feed Guernsey and Jersey cows which are producing 20 pounds of milk daily, 3 pounds of grain; 30 pounds of milk, 6 pounds of grain; 35 pounds of milk, 7 to 8 pounds of grain.

For Holsteins, Ayrshires, Brown, Swiss, and Shorthorns giving 25 pounds of milk daily, 3 pounds of grain; 35 pounds of milk, 5 pounds of grain; 50 pounds of milk, 9 to 10 pounds of grain.

When the amount of grain fed is small, any farm grain such as ground corn, oats, or barley will serve the purpose, says the dairy specialist. He recommends an equal mixture of the grains.

In the case of the higher producers, it is best, he says, to give more attention to increasing the protein and providing variety in the cow's diet. A mixture of 300 pounds of ground oats, 300 pounds of ground corn, and 100 pounds of a protein supplement is satisfactory, according to Hansen.

In case the pasture is not adequate it is best to increase the amount of grain fed and to supply soiling crops, such as green-cut legume hays or green corn fodder, Professor Hansen advises.

PRODUCTIVE COWS SHOULD BE REWARDED

Should Be Fed Little
Grain In Addition

Ames, Iowa—(AP)—If a cow gives more milk than her sisters, it is well to reward her by feeding her grain in addition to the green feed she gets in the pasture.

Congress Dairy Cattle Expands

Waterloo, Ia.—The Twenty-third Annual Dairy Cattle Congress to be held here October 3-9 will be the largest dairy show held in North America in 1932.

Abandonment this year of the National Dry Dairy Show held in St. Louis for the last few years increases the importance of the local show from a national standpoint.

In order to insure the continuity of a number of events ordinarily included in the program of the national show, the Dairy Cattle Congress is making provisions for revision of its activities for this year, according to Secretary E. S. Estel.

The national 4-H dairy cattle judging and demonstration contests will be held here as well as the national inter-collegiate judging contest. These contests will bring teams representing more than twenty five states.

Arrangements have already been completed with the U. S. Department of Agriculture to double its educational exhibit at the show and an extensive display of special educational value is also being constructed by the National Dairy Council.

BROWNE'S TRIAL TO FLY PACIFIC ENDED IN CRASH

Plane Fell Into Sea While
He Was Trying
Refueling

BULLETIN

Amarillo, Tex., May 31—(AP)—Harold Bromley, Dallas flier, who was forced down here last night on a projected trans-continental flight from New York, took off this morning for California.

Seattle, May 31—(AP)—Months of preparation for a trans-Pacific flight came to naught when Nat Browne's airplane "Lone Star" was wrecked on a refueling attempt near the take-off point, yesterday.

The Texas-born flier, and his volunteer parachute jumper assistant in refueling, Frank Brooks, were rescued from Puget Sound, without serious injury. Brooks said the weighted nozzle of the hose of the refueling plane caught the "Lone Star's" stabilizer, and the tail, smashed the rudder assembly and threw the ship into a steep dive which ripped off a wing. Seeking a prize of nearly $30,000 for the first flight from Seattle to Tokyo before the time limit of the 5-year-offer expires at midnight, June 1, Brown had elected to refuel in mid-air, after Sunday's difficulty in getting the heavily loaded ship off the ground. Forced to return after 7 1/2 hours by an oil leak, he discovered after landing that a stabilizer wire had been broken in grazing a tree at the takeoff.

Everything Invested
"What breaks I got on this trip," sobbed Brown, as he was put to bed for treatment for a dislocated shoulder. "I could have made it, too."
"Every dime I had invested in my plane," I risked everything I had now I have nothing."
A group of friends here today worked to raise a fund in recognition of Brown's heroism.

"When the plane dove," Browne said, "I opened the throttle wide in an effort to pull out of it. The wings crumpled. The plane came to pieces."
"I made no effort to jump. I didn't need to. I was thrown clear of the cockpit about 300 feet above the water and my parachute opened. I hit the water with terrific force."

"It rained plane all around as we dropped. When the wing tore off we were left sitting almost in mid air."

With their parachutes acting as sails, Browne and Brooks were scudded along the water toward a seacraft which rescued them.

The "Lone Star" took off at 12:30 P. M. (PST) with 654 gallons of gasoline, Browne intending to load 300 more from the refueling ship.

ANOTHER MET FAILURE
Amarillo, Tex., May 31—(AP)—one for a $25,000 prize offered by Bromley—if he ever had planned a trans-Pacific flight by Harold I. Seattle aviation enthusiasts—apparently was off today.

The prize, now $29,950, with interest, cannot be claimed unless the Seattle-Tokyo flight is completed by midnight, June 1, (PST) That leaves insufficient time for the Dallas aviator, who was forced down here at 9:30 P. M. on an empty oil tank in what had been announced as a non-stop flight from New York to Burbank, California.

Bromley was non-committal about an attempted ocean crossing previously announcing he had no such flight planned. But S. A. Guiberson, whose company manufactured the motor in Bromley's plane, said, before the aviator was forced down, he might make such an attempt. C. Spangenberg, of Burbank, who said he acted for Bromley, sought unsuccessfully to have the time limit for the prize extended.

Tax Problems In This State

By M. H. HUNTER

32. State Income Tax in Illinois—

Among tax reform measures which have been suggested in Illinois, the income tax has probably received more discussion. It has figured prominently in attempts to amend the present revenue sections of the Constitution and in recent sessions of the General Assembly. The Lantz Bill which was barely defeated in the last General Assembly, is the most recent attempt to secure the passage of an income tax law. Some individuals and organizations have strenuously sponsored an income tax while others have been just as strenuously opposed to it.

The rates under the Lantz Bill were progressive ranging from 1 to 6 per cent. Exemptions of $1,000 for a single person, $2,000 for each married person or head of a family, and $500 for each dependent were provided. Provisions for determination of net taxable income followed closely those of the Federal Income Tax law.

One objection to an income tax in Illinois is that it is unconstitutional. No one but the Supreme Court can decide this, but with an inheritance tax with progressive rates and a section in the Constitution which stipulates that "the specification of the objects and subjects of taxation shall not deprive the General Assembly of the power to require other subjects and objects to be taxed in such manner as may be consistent with the principles of taxation fixed in this Constitution" one feels that an income tax could easily be upheld. The fact is that many who argue the Con-

NIGHT PARKING BAN IN CHICAGO ORDERED ENDED

Vandalism Results In Mayor's Order To Stop Enforcement

Chicago, May 31—(AP)—Tag days are temporarily over for thousands of Chicago motorists who are wont to park in the streets at night.

Until yesterday they were the object of a vigorous police drive intended to stop all street parking after 2 A. M. under an ordinance ostensibly fostered by insurance interests to reduce risk of theft.

Today they were free to park where they choose, and when, with only the usual restrictions.

Mayor Cermak called off the drive. Visibly angered, he said reports reached him some garage owners apparently were too zealous to aid police. Vandals slashed tires, placed tacks along curbs and otherwise molested cars, even those parked in vacant lots.

Until the city council decides to repeal or continue enforcing the ordinance, the police will have to do with it, the Mayor said. Repeal measures are ready for presentation Wednesday.

Meanwhile, windshields and windows of thousands of cars were being smashed of stickers slapped on by the police in warning during the campaign.

ANNIVERSARY

GERMANS REACH MARNE
On May 31, 1918, German troops in the Chemin des Dames sector continued their great drive, reaching Chateau Thierry and other points on the Marne.

Fighting in the center of the huge salient created by the German offensive was intense throughout the night, but Allied positions on the flanks were being held without great trouble.

French reserve divisions began to arrive at the front rapidly and to take their places beside the remnants of the divisions which had received the full shock of the first attack.

American troops were in the lines near Chateau Thierry and it seemed probable that they would be involved in severe fighting within the next 24 hours.

Despite gains by the Germans,

Allied officials were optimistic and said that it was a matter of time until the balance of power on the western front was transferred to their forces.

AUSSIES FETE OLD FOES

Sydney —(AP)—At a reunion of Australian artillerymen here the veterans fete German soldiers and former foes pledged each other in Australian beer.

During the past few years I have repeatedly emphasized that there is an element of risk in all investment. No human undertaking achieves absolute safety, and no investment remains entirely unaffected by changing conditions and the possibility of adverse developments.

Many a Frenchman no doubt considered his French Government bonds absolutely safe, until in 1926 they lost four-fifths of their real value through currency inflation. The German who believed in the absolute safety of his nation's currency had his confidence shattered when the mark declined nine years ago to a point where it was practically valueless. In America we have been more fortunate, although the drastic deflation of security prices has made some investors realize for the first time that there is risk in all investment, and that safety is never absolute but only relative.

Now, I don't mean to overemphasize this thought of risk in investment. I simply want to urge investors to recognize it in a sensible way, and to take all reasonable measures to increase safety when investing money.

To start from the bottom, sound investment is essentially an effort to avoid the greater risks of speculation and gambling. Between the two principal classes of securities, moreover, the bonds of a company are safer than its stock. I know that out of a hundred issues — representing a cross-section of the bond market — a certain percentage have fallen into difficulty. That, however, does not alter the fact that sound bonds still remain one of the most dependable and safest forms of investment. Bonds, as a class, have withstood the present difficult period far better than most other classes of securities.

Even within the classification of bonds, there are varying degrees of safety. Part of the yield you obtain from bonds, you know, might be considered as compensation for assuming the risk that every person takes when he lends money. Sound investment aims to reduce this degree of risk to the lowest point consistent with the requirements of the investor for income. The first point in minimizing risk is, obviously, to buy only strong bonds selected to fit your particular needs.

Questionable judgment in the selection of individual issues is perhaps the commonest mistake investors make. This has been revealed most vividly by many lists of bond holdings I have seen.

The other single, serious defect found most frequently in these lists of investments was the lack of proper diversification among the principal different types of sound bonds. The investor had not spread his risk among a wide enough variety of bonds representing entirely different industries and distinct fields of activity. Of course, the danger of that shortcoming is that unforeseen developments may affect the particular industry whose bonds are held in too high a proportion and cause unnecessarily heavy loss of income or capital to the investor. The results are all the more severe, of course, if this happens at a time when his own business or professional earnings are reduced.

Dakota Delegates Not Bound By Vote

Bismarck, S. D., May 28—(AP)—North Dakota's eleven delegates to the Republican national convention are not bound to support Joseph I. France, former Maryland Senator, winner of the state presidential preference contest, Charles Simon, Assistant Attorney General ruled formally today.

The ruling was in reply to an inquiry from E. G. Larson, Valley City, one of the delegates, and corroborates an informal opinion given by Attorney General James Morris after the preference primary in March.

Of the eleven delegates, nine are by state convention instructions pledged to President Hoover, who was not a candidate in the preference election.

Simon's opinion follows claims made by France that under the North Dakota law the entire Republican delegation is bound to support the winner of the presidential preference contest.

The Golden Text was, "Do they not err that devise evil? but mercy and truth shall be to them that devise good" (Proverbs 14:22).

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "And I heard a loud voice saying in heaven, Now is come salvation, and strength, and the kingdom of our God, and the power of his Christ: for the accuser of our brethren is cast down, which accused them before our God day and night" (Revelation 12:10).

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "Mortal error will vanish in a moral chemicalization. This mental fermentation has begun, and will continue until all errors of belief yield to understanding" (p. 96).

Oboe, 3,372 Years Old, Is Tried Out

Chicago, May 28—(AP)—The 3,372 years of silence of an Egyptian oboe was broken yesterday by two musicians of the University of Chicago symphony orchestra.

The oboe, discovered in Egypt by the University's Oriental Institute, was given a try-out by Virginia Swanstrom and Robert Buchsbaum, and then replaced in its case. "I'm afraid," said Watson Boyes, Curator of Institute, "that there are more poignant memories in these

"Now that I've had four years of college, maybe I ought to get married, or something."

THIS CURIOUS WORLD

The globe, if looked at from the points mentioned above, appears quite unequally divided. The land hemisphere takes in all of the large areas of land, with the exception of Australia, Antarctic, and a narrow point of South America. The water hemisphere includes most of the Pacific and Antarctic oceans, and a good part of the Indian ocean. Flowers bloom all through the year in the Malay states, and there is always a plentiful supply of nectar for the bees. Even the people are not fond of honey, and much prefer eating the young bees.

AIR PATHS of GLORY

EDDIE RICKENBACKER

By DEXTER TEED
NEA Service Writer

Two planes shot at each other in mid-air. Motors roared deafeningly. Machine guns spouted bullets. It was a "dog fight" in the clouds, and in it somebody must die.

Rickenbacker squinted through eyes bloodshot from lack of sleep. The big German plane swooped upward. Now was the test! To be above was an advantage that might mean life instead of death. The American flyer nosed his ship upward, too. He opened the throttle wide and the biplane split through a cloud.

At a disadvantage
Then there were more clouds, then clear air. He looked up, instinctively, and there was the German ship sweeping at him from above. There was only one thing to do. Rickenbacker did it. He dived and gave the motor all the gas. Down he shot at terrific speed that made air shriek through the struts. The roar and vibration were tremendous. The German had won the first round, but it wasn't over yet. As the earth came up to meet him, the American ace straightened out his plane, then nosed it upward and headed directly for a big cloud. He couldn't see the other plane, and when he was in the cloud he climbed as fast as he could. He must have altitude. Minutes passed, then suddenly he broke out into the clear air.

Death
Quickly he glanced around. To his right and above he saw the other plane, circling. Now was his chance. He aimed his machine gun and pumped bullets. The German had missed him, with a similar opportunity. Would he miss the German?

The decision came in split seconds. Suddenly the other ship shot downward, a little trail of smoke behind. Then it burst into flame and carried its pilot to a blazing death.

Rickenbacker returned behind the lines safely that time, as he did many other times, to become America's premier flyer ace. He shot down 26 German planes in the World War. That made him one of our great war heroes.

Do you remember his acceptance speech when he was given the Congressional Medal in 1930? "Mr. President, I should be ungrateful, if I failed to recognize this great honor as a true tribute to my comrades in arms—soldiers and sailors, living and dead."

The Congressional Medal on his breast, Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker is shown in a smiling post (at right) just after he had received coveted award which carried with it recognition as America's premier war-time ace. Lower left you see him as he shook hands with Ernst Udet during a visit of the famous German military flyer to America.

Active In Aviation
He was praised for that, and America recalled him once more in the years since the war was over he has been connected with automobile and aircraft companies, as an expert who knows motors. Often he flies, efficiently as he did in the war.

Not so long ago he met and shook hands with Ernst Udet, the German ace, who was in America. They may have met, as enemies, in the air over in France. They didn't know. But the war was over, anyway.

His hair a little thinner, and a few more lines in his face, Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker is still youthful in spirit. He is looking ahead, and planning for the great future of aviation.

GRADUATES AT BACCALAUREATE IN CAPS, GOWNS

Dr. Stansell Of the First M. E. Church Spoke To Record Class

One of the largest crowds in many years attended the baccalaureate services at the Assembly park auditorium Sunday evening. The large auditorium was well filled in honor of the largest class of students ever to be graduated from the Dixon high school. A section was reserved for the graduating class, who marched into the auditorium clad in neat caps and gowns.

Dr. Gilbert Stansell, pastor of the First Methodist church, delivered the sermon, which was highly appropriate to the occasion. The program was carried out as follows:

Processional—William Smith at piano.
Invocation.
Hymn—"Sweet Hour of Prayer."
Scripture reading—Rev. A. D. Shaffer.
Chorus—"Send out Thy Light."
High school quartet. Howard Crews, Willard Thompson, Robert Fulmer, Albert Whitmore.
Prayer—Rev. Walter W. Marshall.
Announcements.
Chorus—Recessional—combined girls clubs, Robert Fulmer and Howard Crews, soloists.
Sermon—Rev. Gilbert Stansell.
Hymn—"Blessed Assurance."
Benediction—Rev. B. C. Whitmore.

Sidelights In News In Capital Of United States

By HERBERT PLUMMER

Washington — It is a far cry from the political convention of the old days to that spectacle which will get under way at Chicago shortly.

All the pageantry, lavish preparations, magnificent coliseums, and stadiums, so necessary to the modern quadrennial political circus were unknown years ago.

The democrats back in 1835 required no stadium with a seating capacity of 25,000 as they will have this year at Chicago. They did their nominating in the large Fourth Presbyterian church at Baltimore. The Whigs, in 1839 used the Lutheran church in Harrisburg.

In 1844, the city of Baltimore was host to the two national conventions, as Chicago will be this year. There was little of the grandiose display for the delegates, in that awaits them in Chicago. In that year the democrats were content to meet in an Odd Fellows' hall, while the republicans took over the Universalist church.

WIGWAM USED IN 1860—
It was in 1860 that the present day flare for the unusual at political conventions began to be noticed. The republicans held their convention in Chicago in a specially constructed wigwam. It was in this wigwam that Abraham Lincoln was first nominated. In the succeeding years the show has grown larger and larger. About every conceivable thing is done nowadays to make the conventions memorable events.

The democratic convention in Denver back in 1908 was held when the thermometer was around 104 and 105 degrees. Denver citizens brought in carloads of snow from nearby mountain tops and dumped it near the convention hall. The delegates engaged in snowball fights to forget the heat.

AND NOVELTIES—

There is no end to novelties at political conventions of today.

Anna Case sang the "Star-Spangled Banner" to open the democratic convention in New York in 1924. While she was singing literally thousands of miniature American flags were released from the ceiling and floated down on the crowd.

At Houston in 1928 gardenias attached to toy balloons were released at the convention hall.

DO YOU INHALE?

Is this question too revealing for other cigarettes?

WE do not criticize others. We merely call your attention to the fact that the vital subject of inhaling has been generally avoided in cigarette advertising.

Why? What's there to be afraid of? Everybody inhales! Seven out of ten smokers inhale knowingly—the other three do so without realizing it. From your side—you want to be sure that the smoke you breathe in is pure and clean—free from certain impurities.

But from the manufacturer's side—he should be sure of giving you this protection. And if he is sure—he need not worry about the question: "Do you inhale?"

Lucky Strike has dared to raise this vital question... because certain impurities concealed in even the finest, mildest tobacco leaves are removed by Luckies' famous purifying process. Luckies created that process. Only Luckies have it!
